What will the $2 billion NC infrastructure bond do?

Connect NC to the 21st century.

The bond represents statewide investments in higher education, agriculture, state parks, the National Guard, and water and sewer infrastructure.

It's been 15 years since the last general obligation bond was authorized to upgrade our state's infrastructure.

Since then NC has grown by more than 2 million people.

No New Taxes

NC is rapidly eliminating existing debt. Thanks to our state’s strong revenue growth and ample debt service capacity, no tax increases are necessary to finance the bond.
What does the bond mean for UNCG?

$105 million for a new Nursing and STEM Instruction Building to address immediate space shortages and respond to clear demand from students, employers, and the state.

Helping our students complete high demand programs on time and preparing them for well-paid jobs in health care and STEM.

Growing our economy by producing highly trained graduates equipped to meet the current and future needs of NC employers like Cone Health and Labcorp.

Building our community by increasing the number of qualified health and science professionals, expanding knowledge generation and innovation, and improving public health outcomes.

Growing Greensboro

The bond will bring over $200 million to UNCG, NC A&T, and GTCC to enhance our collective capacity to prepare students for the high-tech industries driving NC’s economy.
