Additional Education: Medical degree from Duke University; internship and residencies in pediatrics and anesthesiology at Duke, Stanford University and George Washington University.

Career: After completing training, we lived in California and Washington, DC, before spending 21 years in university-affiliated practice in pediatric anesthesiology in Memphis, TN, at LeBonheur Children's Medical Center. The opportunity to help children and families in times of crisis and to teach physicians-in-training was very satisfying.

Family: At Duke, I met my husband of 43 years, Don, a New Jersey native. We have three daughters, and now the family includes nine grandchildren, who range in age from 1 to 10 years, including two sets of identical twins. While they do not all live close by, we treasure our time with them.

Hobbies and Interests: Retirement in 2005 brought us back to North Carolina, and we are delighted to live in the Asheville area. Being able to have the luxury of deciding the agenda for each day never loses its appeal. Gardening, golf, hiking, biking and snow skiing in winter are favorite pastimes.

UNCG Memories: The support and friendship of UNCG classmates, especially my roommate of four years, Judy Davis Wall, formed the foundation of campus life. Dorm life, participating in the Honors Program, numerous outstanding professors, my senior project with Dr. Laura Anderton, and the support of the Z. Smith Reynolds Foundation are just some of the important aspects of my UNCG experience.
